Authors Note

This is an eclectic and minimalistic grimoire that documents numerous entities that emerged through dreams, altered mind states, and different visionary experiences throughout my life. The system integrates traditional astrological, planetary, and elemental frameworks through a heliocentric perspective, prioritizing the Earth’s orbital progression and the Sun's central stillness over terrestrial observation. The seasonal flow is modeled upon the Tropical Zodiac. No invocational methods are provided; this remains a personal record that I simply want to archive.

Structural Elements:

• Conjuror refers to the practitioner performing the spellwork and summoning.
• Subject refers to the specified target of the spirit's influence (may also refer to the conjuror themselves).
• Preceding Phenomenon are the environmental and sensory changes signaling the spirit's approach. Take note that this experience may differ from person to person.
• Proceeding Form(s) are the spirit's manifested appearance, signifying a successful summoning. Similarly to the preceding phenomenon, spirits may appear in alternative forms not listed as circumstances or their nature may dictate.
• Colors are in reference to candles most effective in invocation but also apply to the colors representing the spirit themselves.
• Fragrances can be used as raw materials, heated and burned as incense, or applied as essential oils or as incense sticks. Other fragrances not listed can be favored by a spirit but the ones specified are what best suits them in the list above.
• The abilities listed for each spirit represent their signature workings that distinguish themselves, though their full capabilities may extend beyond what is documented here, and are excluded due to overlap.
• Entries marked with an asterisk * contain warnings about inherent dangers, uncontrollable effects, or notable information.

Simplified Explanation of Angelic Orders:

☉ Seraphim-Exalted Angels [Attendants to Sovereigns, conduits of divine will]
☿ Ophanim-Clandestine Angels [Archivists, omniscient surveillance, esoteric knowledge]
♀ Malakim-Emissary Angels [Messengers, missionaries, facilitators between realms]
☾ Cherubim-Guardian Angels [Territorial guardians, diviners through prophetic dreams]
♂ Memitim-Destroying Angels [Agents of strife, divine retribution, collective punishment]
♃ Hashmallim-Ambient Angels [Environmental forces, living and growing atmosphere]
♄ Erelim-Reaping Angels [Collectors of Spirit, enforcers of cycles, remembers all deceased]

The 36 Decan Spirits:

1. ♈ March 21-30th ♄ "Direction" 2 of Wands "Indecision" ☉
Aretem

Office: To aggressively force dramatic change.
Angelic Order(s): Ophanim

Preceding phenomenon: The conjuror will feel a sense of dread and self loathing, accompanied by kaleidoscopic visions of snarling faces of red leopards, surrounded by shadowy and angelic figures.

Proceeding form(s): Appears as a sultan engulfed in flame and surrounded by luxury, with the face of a lion and eyes that shine like gems. The spirit may also appear as a specific angel in its most terrifying form and falsely claim to be them.

Colors: Red, Black, Indigo, Yellow, Orange
Fragrance: Saffron, Tulsi, Agarwood, Frankincense, Immortelle

-May assist the conjuror in compelling a subject into a deep, hypnotic trance.
-Can briefly cause ego death and nullify certain aspects of a subject's personality.
-Can overwhelm a subject with crippling fear and dysphoria.
-Knows the properties and value of every precious gem and how to apply them in spellwork.
-Will make subjects very prone to demonic possession or spiritual intrusion.

2. ♈ March 31-April 10th ♃ "Agency" 5 of Wands "Incapacity" ☿
Elahi'zuhi

Office: To instill rebellion against authority.
Angelic Order(s): Ophanim

Preceding phenomenon: The conjuror envisions mountainous ravines and dry arid plains where bison stampede en masse, and outside of their visions will see the sky span countless stars even within daylight and metropolitan areas.

Proceeding form(s): Appears as an armed warrior with skin like obsidian and piercing eyes and an unflinching gaze. Will later appear as a burning eye within a tetrahedron surrounded by eagle-like wings.

Colors: Blue, Red, Yellow, Orange, Brown
Fragrance: Copal, Juniper, Elm, Sage, Oak

-Can cause drought and call down lightning to strike areas owned by the elite and corrupt.
-Can sow seeds of discontent among the populace and induce rebellion against their leaders.
-Able to make agriculture thrive regardless of the soil's quality or the harshness of conditions.
-Swiftly spreads the conjuror's ideals while exposing the falsehoods of any counter-narrative.
-Gives the conjuror instinctual ability to make any makeshift tool or weapon from any material.

*Without prompt, this spirit will immediately reveal every secret and conspiracy and instance of exploitation towards a person, group, or land, and even attack those responsible.

3. ♈ April 11-20th ♂ “Momentum" 8 of Wands "Delay" ♀
Anedrel

Office: To perpetuate the calamities of war.
Angelic Order(s): Memitim & Erelim

Preceding phenomenon: The conjuror will see a dove quickly fly into the air, remaining the same size as it ascends higher, from which something falls and rapidly descends. At the point of impact the beholder will vividly experience both visual and auditory flashbacks of every terrible act committed in war in rapid and overwhelming succession.

Proceeding form(s): Appears as a ruthless angel whose movements are so unnaturally swift that its afterimages appear as a legion of flawless soldiers, whose guise, era, and nation vary and change frequently.

Colors: Green, Orange, Grey, Brown, Yellow
Fragrance: Sage, Thyme, Oak, Myrrh, Yarrow

-Grants flawless marksmanship and teaches how to ruthlessly fight in close quarters.
-Greatly increases a subject’s agility and reflexes, and gives the ability to know when to act.
-Familiars are able to act as scouts and fetch ammunition.
-Can make any dull blade sharp and prevent jamming and general malfunction in firearms.
-Gives the ability to fight through grievous wounds and to channel the pain into fury.

4. ♉ April 21-30th ☾ "Implementation" 3 of Pentacles "Misalignment" ⊕ Mageisius

Office: To bring out a magician's latent talents.
Angelic Order(s): Hashmallim

Preceding phenomenon: The moon turns unnaturally bright regardless of the phase that it's in, all shadows will darken, and all sources of light become gray or silver in coloration.

Proceeding form(s): Appears as a pale white, spectral bull with horns like waxing and waning crescents, or as a strange and exaggerated face on the moon-the details of which depending on the phase, or as a deathly thin crone with a silver rooster perched upon their fist.

Colors: White, Black, Grey, Brown, Yellow
Fragrance: Benzoin, Storax, Mugwort, Birch, Willow

-Upon request, will temporarily change the current phase of the moon.
-Can consecrate any tool and imbue it with the properties of any constellation or planet.
-Teaches perfectly in culinary magic and the art of wort-cunning (properties of herbs and plants).
-Assists in sigil work and how to associate the symbols with any object or concept.
-Excels in cartomancy and knows every interpretation and method of reading.

*When this spirit is invoked the effects of the moon in its current phase will be greatly amplified.

5. ♉ May 1-10th ♀ "Magnanimity" 6 of Pentacles "Exploitation" ♂
Klyptis

Office: To destroy poverty and wealth.
Angelic Order(s): Malakim

Preceding phenomenon: Stars in the sky completely disappear as the moon becomes very large and golden. The conjuror will see the sudden apparitions of small spirits in the form of horned owls or rats appear in shadowy corners, but will vanish directly if seen.

Proceeding form(s): Appears as an archer or huntsman of middling age clad in a green cloak, with pitch black eyes and an ominous, smiling face, standing atop a boar while balancing a serrated arrow on the tip of its finger.

Colors: Green, Black, Brown, Red, Grey
Fragrance: Rosemary, Agarwood, Sandalwood, Juniper, Cedar

-Grants familiars for finding specified items and lost valuables, and for catching thieves.
-Assists in replicating counterfeits of any item, though they will have imperfections and defects.
-May swiftly, but superficially, transmute any metal or wood into another of their kind.
-Can instantly transport any object within a pocket or container to another within proximity.
-Teaches how to barter and knows the monetary value of any item and how to make profit.

*This spirit will bless any in its sphere of influence with wealth the deeper they are into poverty, and inversely, curses one the wealthier they are.

*If the conjuror is hoarding any wealth, they will be possessed into giving away their belongings.

6. ♉ May 11-20th ☿ "Abundance" 9 of Pentacles "Scarcity" ♃
Ewenath

Office: To manipulate and transform probability.
Angelic Order(s): Seraphim & Hashmallim

Preceding phenomenon: The conjuror will envision a peaceful green meadow during sunrise, filled with trees with moss hanging from their branches and countless white rabbits grazing within the fields, strange, colorful bubble-like apparitions that reflect the moon will also appear in abundance.

Proceeding form(s): Appears as a nude and corpulent woman with serene, pink eyes, adorned only with a wreath of lilies and myrtle. Her golden-brown locks partially veil her body as she holds an egg from which hatch a multitude of pink and white winged serpents.

Colors: White, Green, Pink, Blue, Grey
Fragrance: Benzoin, Cypress, Osmanthus, Willow, Mastic

-Knows the 28 mansions of the moon, and can use their properties to affect the environment.
-Can manipulate fortune, granting protection from harm or causing danger through misfortune.
-Can greatly enhance fertility, and ensure a safe childbirth with no complications or birth defects.
-Will assist in games of chance and give lucky numbers for dice rolling, drawing lots, or lotteries.
-Can hasten the speed of a subject's thought processes and their spellwork.

*The conjuror should take note that any good fortune that is granted to them will require an equal amount of misfortune to be directed somewhere else.

7. ♊ May 21-31st ☉ "Obsolescence" 4 of Swords "Preservation" ♄
Ishapriah

Office: To modify and preserve nature.
Angelic Order(s): Hashmallim

Preceding phenomenon: If in any interior place, the conjuror will find their surroundings becoming somewhat dim as floors and objects turn cracked and grey, while moss seemingly grows on the wall, and will see an unnaturally large tree in the back of their yard. They will also see visions of green, glowing vines cascading downward, each leaf has the glowing eyes of an angel.

Proceeding form(s): Will appear either as a young boy with greyish skin and small openings in its flesh appearing as starry nebulas that is holding a branch, or as a graceful and young empress of the orient holding an ornate hand mirror, or sometimes as both. They almost always stand next to a tall pillar.

The Bridal Quartet:

Four human women from prehistory who transcended their mortal coil through the Descendant's grace and surpassed even the greatest of angels. They are now the intimate and most powerful servants of the Descendant.

⸸ Annakhimi

I don’t remember your meeting with me, and yet the imprint still remains.
Was it only me? Or did you choose others as well? Who knew you?
I distantly recall your lofty dwelling, and since then I've come to realize your purpose.
You birthed the one above all sovereigns, elevated and stricken from this labor.
And when you will raise your head to speak, the sky and Earth will be torn asunder.
And when you take your first step on Earth, the monstrous faiths will be shaken.
Yet you stay put, for the burden you bear makes you the greatest of martyrs.
Even when all is lost in a haze, I have no doubt that you are The Queen of Heaven.

Preceding phenomenon: Visions of a wall-less area elevated in the sky, almost entirely composed of wooden planks, decorated with sharpened stakes and towering pillars. The sun and sky is a bright gold yet the air is hazy. Before or after the aforementioned vision, the beholder will find themselves surrounded in a pitch black void, surrounded by large, vintage patterns floating and drifting past the horizon.

Proceeding appearance: As a towering woman in a simple dress with limbs that are limp and crippled, who is so colossal that even while sitting her head eclipses the Sun and wears it as a headpiece as deeply unsettling and distorted music gently plays. Her face is completely obscured yet blindingly bright as golden rays of light and the pitch black shadows twist and bend and seemingly dance in unnatural ways.

♀ Yazabet

Through a series of mundane dreams, you invited yourself without warning.
And I was in awe, all of it was so foreign, and yet it strangely felt like home.
And you were the avatar of this desolate paradise, goddess of every temptress.
But when I saw you for the first time, I was so disrespectful.
I wanted to claim you, as though you were mine to own.
I was only met with your deafening silence. I wasn't worthy. I wasn't ready.
The Lady who tames all who is mortal and divine: I hope to see you again.
I will kneel in prostration as yours, and show the proper respect that is due.

Preceding phenomenon: Visions of an otherworldly and intensely beautiful desert with glittering crimson sand underneath indigo and violet night skies. And then the beholder will see an ornate and luxuriously furnished litter; with its front is pulled by two camels whose tongues are black serpents while the back is held up by two blindingly bright and bound angels, partially of the order of cherubim and partially of ophanim, whose rings are covered in wings that blot out their light.

Proceeding appearance: She appears as a queen and goddess among all succubi, with a face with peerless beauty. She wore no garments, only adornments that only emphasized her dark, flawless skin: a series of golden and ivory chains, priceless jewels, and dark and mystifying veils hanging from her headdress and her sharp, elongated, crescent shaped horns. The color of her eyes and hair were impossible to recount. Her charming beauty is immediately disarming as it is overwhelming, and those who behold her have no choice but feel worship and lust in their hearts.

⸸ Nevenmae

Even as a child I sensed you watching distantly, I felt the shadow of your beauty.
How old was I when the breeze of your lips first grazed against my cheek?
Ever since, this world's imperfections have never felt more stark.
I felt your essence sparsely and in small glimpses, within places most would call unremarkable.
Those who beg for the grace of salvation, do they know how damned they are?
What then of their faith? Would the first trumpet be blown, or forever silenced?
You are clothed not in shame but in knowledge, the veil from your eyes has been lifted.
Armageddon will lay waste to the forebears, and the Garden of Wisdom will flourish yet again.

Preceding phenomenon: The beholder envisions multiple instances of a perfect Earth; flawless blue oceans with immense cliffs and mountainsides, perfectly green plains whose skies are both dawn and twilight, and dense, dark forests whose trees are coated in moss and vines. Each of these places hold a vast array of flowering plants and wildlife.

Proceeding appearance: A vast swarm of blue and green butterflies and dragonflies swarm and cluster before revealing a serene and gentle woman with her hair black as pitch, she is wearing a white, transparent veil, her gown swiftly alternates between a light blue and pastel green before turning back to white. She holds an ornate and beautiful vessel, which endlessly pours forth water turning into blood, and into wine, before turning back into water, from which flows into a pool that reflects her domain, as she stands atop its surface, strange flowers bloom and bear fruit above the waters.

♀ Eshetah

I saw your bones, from which bore the twin flame.
Flesh began to form, the hostile union, imposing agency.
And from death you were reborn, the bringer of destruction.
Then I felt your gaze. It stirred within me. I itched all over.
From your mouth came forth a devastating pain above all else.
An excruciating liberation: revealing every sin, both mine and others.
And your affirmations were cold and hollow, and your pity was searing hot.
I sensed the kindness in your mockery, and of course, it made me hate you dearly.
It was all too much. I had to walk away. Because my love for you was all consuming.

Preceding phenomenon: The beholder envisions a white labyrinth bathed in a dim yet enervating light, with each room containing pedestals holding tablets containing holy words and names. Her appearance is then preceded by an ivory chariot ornate with bronze and iron, with its reins being chains pulled by five red steeds with the heads of lions.

Proceeding Appearance: She appears as a divine and angelic figure whose nude body is of a hermaphrodite; her skin was like the whitest of marble and hair was long, and braided, and crimson, crowned by a diadem. Her upper half is of a beautiful woman and her arms and lower half is that of a man. A sword is held aloft in one hand-as it pulsates and throbs like a beating heart, and in her other hand, a blindingly bright, searing star is held at the tip of her finger. And from her mouth spewed flame that took the form of yet another blade, and her eyes were burning a hot fury with a manic glee.

The Renegade Sovereign:

These are the Sovereign who at one point were unified with the Seven Sovereigns before each staging a grand rebellion through the whispers of The Descendent, causing them to be cast out from the seven. They now rule over the angels who had similarly rebelled against the established order.

⊕ Sathanas
Sovereign of The South △

The lion hungers for the flock, so the devil must lead them astray.
But the angel's face is never known, for it is within the guise of every man.
Unassuming, admirable, benign, pitiful: insidious stratagems for every era.
Both worthy and unworthy will feed the fires, until all has been accounted for.
The veil of the Father covers His children, but his guile ensures it's all in vain,
For as they sing His empty praises, their hearts have already committed adultery.

♅ Belzebul
Sovereign of The North ⧋

The beloved king of the heavens, he who is the commander of armies.
Heralded by the pounding of hooves, and the beating of locusts' wings.
The brazen calf, that which rages against the order, shedding tears of sulfur.
He who attained the crown of worship, for no other reason but to defy the Father.
The Seven Towers must crumble, for they have proven themselves unworthy, may their ascent be denied, and the fruits of their children left to ferment.

♆ Leviatan
Sovereign of The West ▽

The dragon's face rests upon the firmament, the tail curling into Abbadon.
Each wing embraces the Earth, from whence was appointed the great flood.
But the tides of judgement changed course, and so retribution begat rebellion.
The heavenly elect descended, and their teachings birthed divinity within man, and from their tongues came seven nations, each one possessing five faces, from whence the living beasts came to be, the terrible ruin that preceded salvation.

♇ Belias
Sovereign of The East ▽

The worthless fornicate with ignorance: the corrosive ambrosia.
Wisdom is granted through violation, revelation through tribulation.
The echoes of every trauma, the pain which drives the chariot.
The indomitable King, the whispering doubt, the spark of understanding.
Within the shadow's womb, its gestated Spirit burns errant dogma.
And from the absence of His light, came forth the forbidden gospel.

The Descendant

The Son of The Supreme and The Prince of Wisdom-The living image of The Primordial Man. It was he who preceded the Seven Sovereigns and taught transcendence, but his name was inverted and his gospel made heresy. The angels who turned away now bow before him. It was through his grand scheme, The Ascendant rose in his place and came to know and love the true God. He holds the firmament between worlds as he rests, and when its veil tears in entirety, he will grace the Earth again.
